UN Assembly Heads for Vote On Red China

U.S. Is Confident Issue Will Be Shelved For Another Year

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The General Assembly's Steering Committee headed for a showdown vote today on whether to schedule a bitter debate on Red China's claim to a voice in the U.N.

But a group of smaller powers was reported trying to head off the discussion for now to avoid jarring the atmosphere surrounding the Warsaw talks between the United States and Communist China.

Pressure for an early Steering Committee vote came from the United States and India after Assembly President Charles Malik had postponed the question twice in as many days.

The United States, angered over the repeated delays, was confident the U.N. would follow past procedure and vote to shelve the issue for another year.

Described as Shocked

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was described as shocked by the postponements. A U.S. spokesman said: "We want a vote and we want it now."

The spokesman said the United States did not want to duck debate in the full Assembly by letting the question get bottled up in the Steering Committee.

India's Delegate Arthur S. Lall also said he did not intend to be talked out of pressing his request to give the Peiping government a seat in the U.N. "We are going ahead," he said.

For several years neutralist India has supported Red China's claims to a U.N. seat. This year the Soviet press and radio has been laying the groundwork for India's diplomatic move with claims that the Formosa crisis pointed up Peiping's absence from the world forum.

Informed sources said the move to dissuade the United States and India from pressing their rival proposals to a vote came from Ireland, Australia, Canada and Ceylon.

Based on Theory

Their move was based on the theory that if the committee votes at all, its report would automatically go to the 81-nation Assembly and touch off fierce public debate over Communist China in the middle of the Warsaw talks on the Formosa Strait crisis.

U.S. officials in Washington, however, saw little chance of ending the crisis by Warsaw negotiations. The United States is seeking a cease-fire in Formosa Strait before making any deal with Peiping, and Secretary of State Dulles appealed for this before the U.N. Thursday.

But the Chinese radio has rejected the U.S. idea of Peiping's renouncing force — although U.S. leaders say they do not consider this Peiping's last word.

The Chinese Nationalists also have rejected a cease-fire and possible demilitarization of Quemoy and Matsu, since it might blunt their claims to reconquer the mainland someday.

Couple En Route To Hospital Hurt

Ambulance, Auto Crash at Intersection

An elderly East Palestine couple en route to Salem City Hospital in an ambulance for surgery to the husband and a Columbiana man were injured in a mishap at the intersection of Rt. 14 and Rt. 164, just north of Columbiana, at 10 p.m. Thursday.

Hurt were: Mrs. Ellen McCarthy, 66, bruised right shoulder and thigh; her husband, Rupert, 65, abrasions of the left foot; and Paul Wayt, 42, facial abrasions.

Mr. McCarthy is in fair condition at the hospital. Hospital authorities reported they did not know whether the mishap aggravated his condition.

The other persons were treated at the hospital and released.

The McCarthys were in an ambulance owned by the Oliver Funeral Home in East Palestine and driven by Charles E. Clark, 52, of East Palestine. Wayt was in a car driven by Raymond D. Edwards, 33, of Columbiana.

State highway patrolmen said Clark sounded his siren and drove through the intersection against a red light. Edwards pulled into the intersection at the same time, resulting in the collision.

The front end of Edward's sedan was demolished. The ambulance was only slightly damaged. Clark was arrested for failing to exercise caution while "breaking through" a traffic light.

Herbert Letton, 47, of 322 N. Market St., Lisbon, was arrested for failing to stop in the assessed clear distance ahead after his car struck the rear of an auto driven by Anthony Leone, 39, of 38 W. Main St., Leetonia at the intersection of Rt. 30 and the Y and O Road, four miles north of East Liverpool, at 6:10 a.m. Thursday.

A 10-shot series has been planned, but must end before Oct. 1, effective date of President Eisenhower's proposal for a one-year suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

This yearlong moratorium could lead to an indefinite halt.

The program is being informally called "Operation Deadline."

In this series, the AEC is seeking to develop small defensive weapons to round out the nation's atomic power.

Devices to be tested will range up to 20 kilotons. This is considered small by current standards, but in World War II it took just one two-kiloton bomb to destroy a Japanese city.

Fired From Balloons

Four of the tests will be fired from balloons and low towers. The remaining six will be in tunnels deep in a mountain.

The 20-kiloton weapon will be detonated underground.

The AEC found out in 1957 with its first tunnel experiment that subterranean testing does away with a lot of problems and produces the same scientific results.

Off-site radioactive fallout and a blast and flash effects are eliminated.

In addition to testing the effectiveness of weapons, the series will involve experiments on the protection of people from atomic attack.

On one of the later balloon shots, 500 pigs will be placed in trenches, pill boxes and fox holes at various distances from the blast site.

The results, says Col. William S. Hutchinson Jr., deputy test manager for military affairs, "should enhance our capabilities to insure maximum survival among populations which may be exposed to atomic attack."

In another test, the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization plans to determine the effects of a blast on family fallout shelters primarily designed to protect against radiation.

Faubus Offers Legal Plan For Private Schools

Action Also Taken In Virginia, Florida To Block Negroes

By The Associated Press

Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas Thursday night offered the people of Little Rock what he termed a legal plan for private, segregated schools and asked them to vote for segregated classes.

In Virginia, Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. closed white schools as rapidly as the courts ordered them to admit Negroes.

An attorney for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People said he will go to court if necessary to get a group of Negro children into a white elementary school at Miami, Fla.

Faubus said approval of segregated classes in the Sept. 27 special referendum will make the school facilities surplus property. The School Board can then lease them to private agencies and he urged them to do so. One such agency has already been chartered.

The plan depends heavily on the

Loot $26,000 In Massillon Bank Holdup

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP)—Police have little to go on in a search for two men who robbed a downtown branch bank Thursday of $26,000.

"Descriptions of the two robbers are so general they could apply to a vast number of people," said Police Chief Stanley Switzer. Believed driving a pink and white 1955 Pontiac, the robbers, who wore masks over the lower part of their faces and thick dark-rimmed glasses, eluded road blocks set up in Stark County.

Norman Epler, manager of the Towne Plaza branch of the State Bank Co., said he was working at an adding machine when a teller, Mrs. Dorothy Kuhlins, said:

"Here comes a masked man."

Epler described the robbery: "One man flashed a nickel-plated gun while the other man, who came in seconds later and stood guard at the door, kept his hands in his coat pocket as though he was armed."

"One of the men went behind the counter and started taking currency from the teller's cage. He didn't touch the coins or checks."

They ordered Epler to open the main vault, but left when he said it operated on a time-lock system and was impossible to open then.

Epler, Mrs. Kuhlins and a woman customer were forced to lie on the floor.

Long Distance Calls to Be Dialed Direct

Starting Sunday, Salem residents will be able to dial directly to almost every city in the United States.

The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. gave a "sneak preview" of the recently installed direct dialing system to a group of Salem's civic leaders at a dinner at the Golf Club Thursday evening.

Mayor Harold Smith, upper picture, made the first call. He called his uncle, Clyde L. Smith, in San Marino, Calif. Seated in foreground is L. L. Everett, assistant vice president of public relations of the Ohio Bell Co., Cleveland.

Command on Formosa Reorganized by U.S.

American Air, Army, Navy Units Bolstered

Ships Land Supplies At Quemoy Despite Red Bombardment

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The United States has announced reorganization of the American advisory command on Formosa, making it — in effect — a regular combat command.

The announcement by the commander of the U.S. Formosa Defense Command, Vice Adm. Roland N. Smoot, said the step was taken to attain an adequate defense posture in the face of recent stepped-up Chinese Communist actions.

In the Quemoy area, Communist and Nationalist guns thundered in fresh battle today. The Nationalists said the Reds fired 6,613 shells between noon and 6 p.m. The bombardment was particularly heavy while three LSTs — Landing Ship, Tank — were unloading supplies at Quemoy. The Defense Ministry here said the ships accomplished their mission without damage and returned

Atlas Blows Apart Minute After Takeoff

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The first attempt to launch an Atlas missile the full 6,000-mile intercontinental range ended in a spectacular blowup high in the Florida sky.

The mighty ICBM exploded in a ball of orange flame in the stratosphere Thursday 80 seconds after liftoff.

It was the 13th Atlas fired to date, and was launched from Pad No. 13 at the Cape.

The blowup cut short immediate U.S. hopes of closing the gap with the Soviet Union in the space weapons race. Most U.S. missile experts believe the Soviets already have an operational ICBM.

The liftoff seemed almost perfect, similar to the three previous shoots that were highly successful over a range of about 3,000 miles. After a roaring climb straight up, the 85-foot war rocket leaned toward a horizontal path and darted toward the southeast.

Just as the missile began to spurt out a thick vapor trail at an altitude of about 60,000 feet, it burst apart with a brilliant flash. Shattered pieces shot out in all directions from a huge puff of smoke that hung in the sky, and rained down on the Atlantic.

The cause was not announced at first.

Ike to Return to Washington, Talk With Defense Aides

NEWPORT, (AP) — President Eisenhower will confer with two defense chiefs in Washington next week instead of meeting them at the summer White House today.

The original plan was for Secretary of Defense McElroy and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to come to Newport for separate conferences with the vacationing President this morning. The meetings were described as routine.

A change in signals was announced Thursday night. The meetings will be held in Washington next Tuesday when Eisenhower returns to be host at a White House stag luncheon for the foreign ministers of 20 Latin-American nations.

Monitors Meet In Hoffa Case

Group to Decide Course of Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Monitors appointed by a federal judge meet today to decide whether to file suit to topple James R. Hoffa as president of the Teamsters Union on grounds of corrupt practices.

But the three-man board of monitors first must decide whether to suspend operations temporarily pending outcome of (A) Hoffa's threatened suit to oust one of the monitors, and (B) a new definition of their powers to police his scandal-battered union.

The Senate Rackets Committee Thursday ended seven weeks of hearings on misconduct charges against Hoffa and some of his lieutenants.

Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho) said, "There is just no end to the scandals. The Teamster treasures seem to have attracted a host of parasites."

Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY) said, "The American people should rise up and demand that this thing be corrected."

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) then adjourned the inquiry until after the Nov. 4 elections.

With the temporary windup of the hearings, attention swung to a closed-door session of the board of monitors to consider more than 250 charges against Hoffa by a group of New York rank-and-file Teamsters demanding his ouster.

The same dissident group sought last year first to block the convention at which Hoffa was elected and later to bar his taking of office. Their suit eventually was compromised with Hoffa taking of office provisionally under supervision of the three-man monitor board named by Federal Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts.

Godfrey P. Schmidt, the New York lawyer who represented the dissidents in the suit, became one of the monitors. He said earlier this week he was considering a move to oust Hoffa.

Hoffa himself said he will ask Judge Letts to remove Schmidt as a monitor. He accused Schmidt of filing excessive expense accounts and of a conflict of interest.

HOFFA TALKING—James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, points to a paper held by Robert Kennedy, counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee, as he speaks to Kennedy in the hearing room in Washington. Walter J. Sheridan, a committee investigator, looks over Hoffa's shoulder. The committee is continuing its investigation of Hoffa's affairs.

Methodist Prelate Backs Right-to-Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bishop Hazen G. Werner of the Methodist Church's Ohio Area has endorsed the proposed Ohio constitutional amendment banning the union shop.

He pointed out, however, he was "speaking for myself alone as a churchman and as a citizen of Ohio."

In a union shop, a worker is required to join the union within a specified time after he is employed, or else lose his job.

In Bishop Werner's statement Thursday he said he had always been pro-union, but listed five reasons why he favored the proposed amendment. They were:

1. It encourages voluntary unionism "which would require that labor organizations be constantly on the alert to prove the value of their services."

2. "Monopolistic labor policies have produced in many quarters a totalitarian atmosphere in which members dare not challenge the policies of their leaders."

3. "Freedom of choice... would be restored so that the voices of dissenting minorities in labor unions would not be stifled."

4. "The predicted wrecking of organized labor" has not occurred in states which have adopted similar legislation.

5. "A renewed measure of control over union leadership... could well mean the beginning of the end of 'hoodlumism' and totalitarianism among labor leaders."

Bishop Werner emphasized that only the general conference of the Methodist Church can speak for the church as a whole.

N. Georgetown Church Services Scheduled

A dedication service for church officers and Sunday School workers will be held Sunday during the 11 a.m. worship service in the First Brethren Church at North Georgetown. The Rev. Donald E. Rowser will conduct the services.

UAW Board Calls Session To Map Plans

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers called their Executive Board into special session today to review the Ford settlement and decide whether to set a strike deadline against General Motors or Chrysler.

Approval of the Ford pact was assured but there was no indication what the board's decision would be on the other auto companies.

The union warned both GM and Chrysler that time was running out. Douglas Fraser, leader of the UAW team at Chrysler, said that "unless the pace picks up in the Chrysler negotiations we will ask the Executive Board for permission to set a strike date."

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and director of the GM Department, showed similar impatience.

With the Ford agreement in hand, the union now has a lever to exert pressure on either company. Both Woodcock and Fraser have said they hope to improve on the three-year Ford pact.

Offers reportedly similar to the one Ford first made the UAW Monday still are on the table at the other two auto companies.

The Ford settlement gave the UAW pay boosts, increased pensions, severance pay, cost-of-living and improvement factor allowances, compensation for those on short work weeks and extended supplemental unemployment pay.

HERE'S HOW TO CALL WHEN

Direct Distance Dialing

COMES TO SALEM ON SUNDAY

September 21ST

Telephone customers with EDgewood 2 and EDgewood 7 telephone numbers will be able to dial station-to-station calls to many distant points starting next Sunday, September 21! (Plans are now being made to extend this wonderful service to others in this area in the near future.) This is all you do to dial your own long distance call:

- 1. KNOW THE NUMBER. Most out-of-town points that you can dial direct are listed in your directory and on Page 2 of the new "Blue Book of Telephone Numbers" coming to Salem customers this week. To obtain numbers in these cities, dial "Operator" and ask for the Information Operator in the city you are calling.
- 2. OBTAIN THE DIALING AREA. From Page 8 of your directory and also from Page 2 of the new "Blue Book" find out if the place you wish to call is in your Home Dialing Area or in another dialing area.
- 3. DIAL THE CALL. On ALL direct distance calls you must dial the code "112" to be connected with the direct dialing equipment. If you call a city in your Home Area, you will dial 112, then the two letters and five figures of the telephone number. If you call a city in another dialing area, you will dial 112, then the three-digit Area Code and then the two letters and five figures of the telephone number.
- 4. GIVE YOUR OWN TELEPHONE NUMBER WHEN ASKED. After you have dialed and before the called telephone starts to ring, an operator will come in on the line and ask for your number. Be sure to give her the number of the telephone you are using.

Only station-to-station calls from ED 2 and ED 7 numbers can be dialed direct. Continue to place person-to-person calls, collect calls, calls charged to another number and pay station calls by dialing "Operator".

Refer to Page 8 of your directory or read the special "Blue Book" prepared for Salem customers to get complete information about Direct Distance Dialing.

Logic in an Absurdity

A theory that the Soviet Union gave the go-ahead for the rumpus in the Formosa Strait to make certain that Communist China is not admitted to the United Nations is gaining wide circulation in Washington as this year's best substitute for the "silly of the season."

At first glance the theory appears to have all the earmarks of absurdity but the author, a foreign diplomat stationed at the United Nations, backs up his contention with what he calls the "logic" of the Russian position.

It is his premise that the Soviet Union prefers Red China dependent on Moscow. With membership in the United Nations, the Chinese Communists would have opportunity to establish direct contact with the West. China and Russia have interests that normally clash at every point of contact. China's isolation from the West keeps it in Moscow's arms.

In further support of his belief, the U.N. diplomat goes back to 1950. In that year, he believes, the United Nations would have voted Communist China to membership had not Russian Ambassador Jacob Malik called for a meeting of the Security Council and demanded that Communist China be admitted immediately. Had the Soviets kept quiet, the two additional votes needed by the Chinese Reds would have been provided by France and Egypt.

Obviously, the United Nations was not going to be blackjacked, so the Chinese Reds lost.

Ever since then, when the issue has come up, the Russian delegation has put on the table-pounding act, hurled invectives and succeeded in solidifying the opposition. But the forces in the General Assembly for seating Red China are increasing each year. The belief now is that the moment Great Britain goes along, opposition would crumble.

On this premise, the U.N. diplomat concludes that the Russians, figuring that the old tactics would not be enough this year, "tricked" the Chinese Communists into shelling the Nationalists.

So, at second glance, and remembering the Russian habit of doing the unpredictable, the U.N. diplomat's theory may not be as silly as it appears on the surface. In fact it seems to make some sense. At any rate, he is just as entitled to the privilege of absurdity as any other diplomat.

No Incentive, No Victory

Benjamin F. Fairless has sounded a timely warning to America in its race with Russia for quality in science, production and growth. The United States, he says, is drifting dangerously toward mediocrity.

Particularly interesting is the manner in which this is happening. The traditional role of incentive in the two countries is being reversed. The Kremlin has adopted the capitalist rule of offering great rewards for great achievement. In the United States a combination of factors has tended to equalize rewards, resulting in a tendency toward equality in performance.

Human talent and imagination lie at the heart of success in any contest. America's vast natural resources, its tremendous industrial capacity, its broad education system, its diverse cultural accomplishments — all of which the Soviet Union envies and dreams of matching — are valueless unless America's people are able and eager, not just willing, to convert them into progress.

Our history is a story of talent and imagination, from the Pilgrims through the growth of the colonies, the founding of the republic, the industrial revolution and the westward advance of the frontier, right up to such modern milestones as the Nautilus' discovery of a polar sea route and the acceptance of frontier-like Alaska as a member of the Union.

Always in front of the advance was the incentive: A desire for a better life, for one's children if not for oneself; an opportunity for reward, spiritual or moral if not material.

By contrast, as Mr. Fairless emphasizes, excellence and distinguished performance are today too often penalized through progressively higher taxes, through ridicule at nonconformism, through lack of recognition, through inadequate rewards.

Mr. Fairless makes it plain he is not referring solely to the especially gifted in our society. Men are not created equal in ability, but every man can have an equal opportunity to do his best. Yet no man, gifted or average, can be expected to do his best unless he in turn can expect a just reward for his best.

How tragically ironic it would be if America were to let Russia use capitalism's own best weapon — incentive — to defeat it.

School Area Traffic

The city safety department has announced plans to erect a hand-controlled traffic signal light on N. Lincoln Ave. when the road leading eastward toward the new senior high school is completed.

This is an essential move since many automobiles and pedestrians will make use of the intersection once the school parking lot is completed. But why ignore the 6th St.-N. Lincoln intersection where a similar type traffic signal already is needed? Traffic is so heavy at the intersection that a policeman is needed there at certain hours to relieve the bottleneck. A policeman has yet to appear on the scene, however.

Traffic congestion at schools is a real hazard that deserves prompt attention.

County Beauty Spot

Nature lovers can't help but feel a little disappointment over the straightening of the Lisbon Road where it winds through Eagleton's Glen five miles south of here.

Because the curves and hills in the area, the state highway department is building a straight, limited access type highway that will span Beaver Creek and the Erie railroad tracks. This is being done in the interest of modern highways and safety.

But as nature prepares for its autumn spectacular—the changing of the trees and shrubbery into their fall clothing—one can't help but realize that the new highway will bypass one of the prettiest valleys in Columbiana County. Luckily, the Eagleton's Glen-Teagarden parkway is accessible by other roads.

Once Over

"I'm letting you in on a new quiz scandal. At those press conference quizzes John Foster Dulles gets the answers in advance. — Scout 1890."

We put a man on this. There are some reasons to think the charge is true and that Mr. Dulles is "prepped" in advance. He is not however, given any training in emotional reactions, such as raising his eyebrows, knotting his forehead, etc. (The secretary thinks his forehead is knotted enough.)

We have not turned the matter over to any district attorney but cite a few questions and answers suggestive of "rigging."

Example No. 1: The question was "Has the United States made a flat decision to help Chiang Kai-shek defend Quemoy and Matsu at all costs?" Mr. Dulles could have replied "No comment" or "How are things in Glocca Morra?" both quite naturally. But he came through with a half-column reply which no man could have thought up unassisted.

Example No. 2: Mr. Secretary, do you have any comment on Dan Acheson's statement that we are drifting into war? A routine reply would have been, "Who was that again?" or "Next question, please," but here again Foster leaped to the challenge with a snappy "No, I have no comment on that" which took quick thinking or outside aid.

Example No. 3: A reporter asked, "We are still troubled over the point of obligation by the U.S. to the people of the country on the question of conveying under Chinese shelling. Is it your position that there is no obligation to explain?"

This would have floored many quiz contestants, most of whom would have replied "I'm not positive but it sounds to me like something by Cole Porter." Mr. Dulles' answer was "I thought I had been explaining that throughout this program."

Here was a reply which was not only a good fast answer but a kidney punch, a rebuke and a strong hint that the questioner had been out to lunch throughout the session.

WE ARE CONTINUING our probe and may check on rumors President Eisenhower if fed advance answers during a press quiz. We hear that if a Khrushchev letter is read to him and he is asked to identify it he will reply "That query belongs on the 'Name That Tune' show."

THE GOP WILL MAKE door-to-door campaign for a dollar to win elections. This means a lot of collectors working in Democratic neighborhoods will have to use that old explanation "I slipped and my eye hit a door knob."

Toots Shor is reported getting 1½ million dollars for a lease from an insurance company on his restaurant building. This is a case where the insurance people had to read a holder's policy.

Dr. Clint Clausen winner of the Maine nomination for governor, is a chiropractor. Those cries outside his office "Oh my aching back" are from Republicans all over the country.

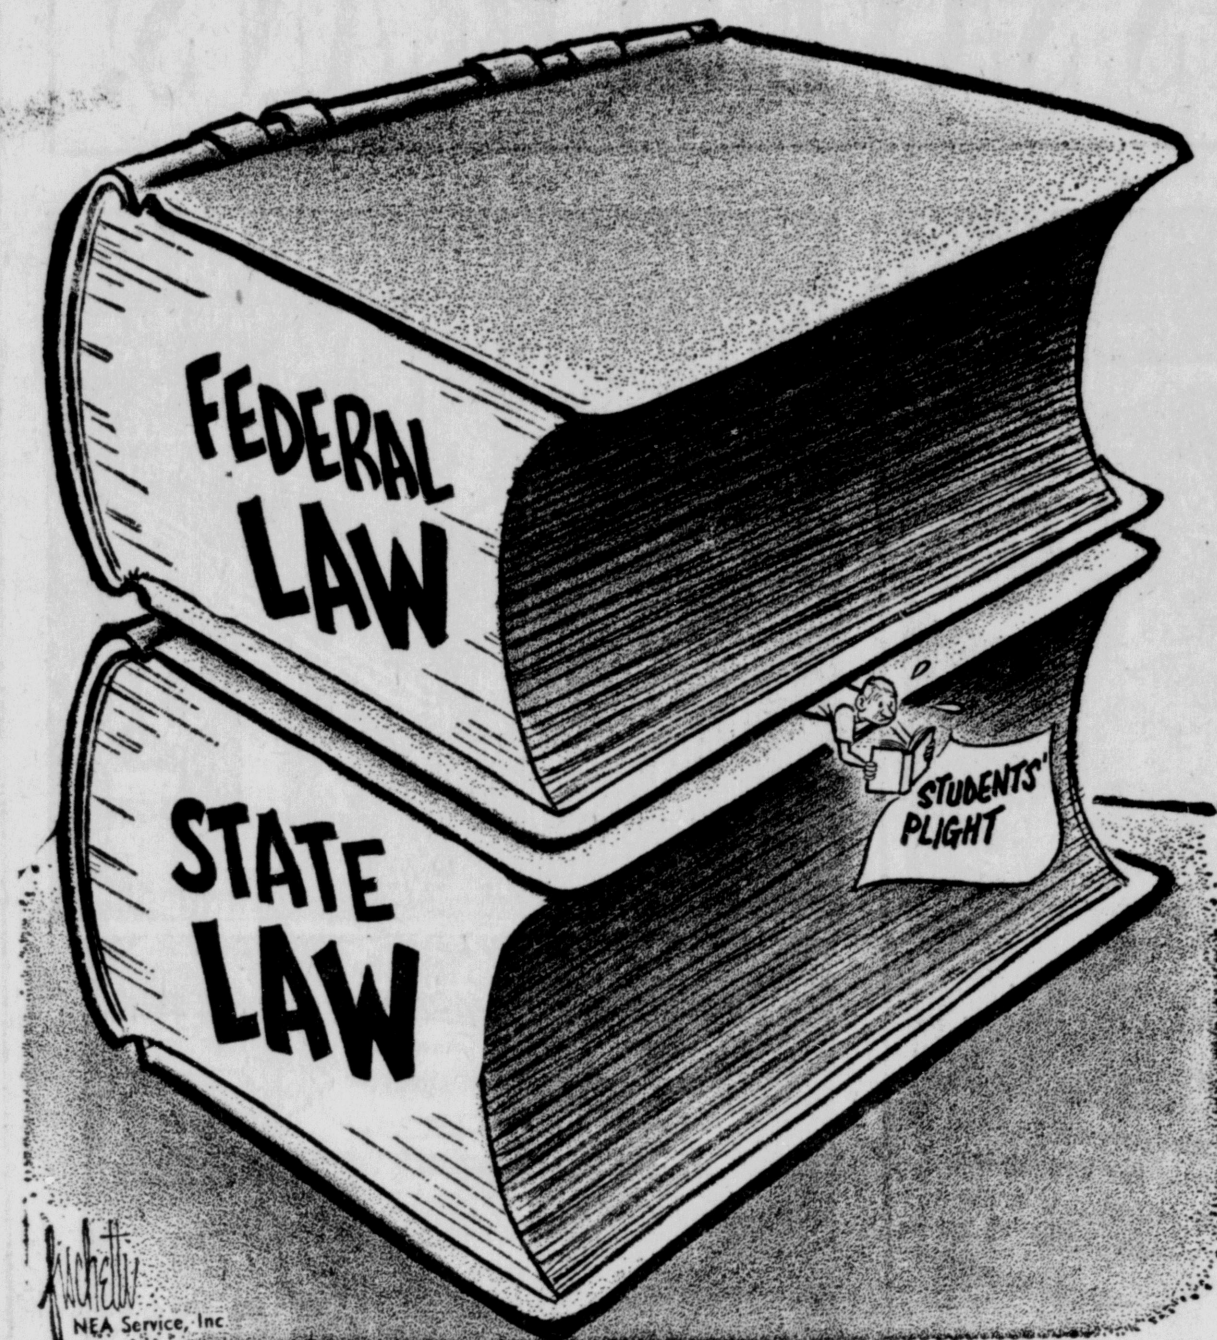

Frankie Frisch was 60 years old last week. What a ballplayer the "Fordham Flash" was! A quiz show contestant got caught in a booth and had to be freed by lock experts. We always thought you could spring those locks by just dropping in enough money.

"I am shocked by what I read in the papers" — Eddie Fisher. Ya mean it's amazing to find when a celebrity with a wife and two infant children is seen around with another glamor gal, it causes talk!!!!

Psychiatrist asked to examine man who had stolen a shirt made a 12-page report saying, "He comprehends spoken word with unclouded sensorium and unimpaired sentience except for bad hearing in left ear. There are no distortions manifesting illusions or hallucinations." The Judge said, "I gather the man is sane and deaf in one ear." He should have freed the defendant and give the doctor 30 days.

Secretary Dulles passed out cups at the recent tennis championship matches. It was puzzling to see him on the ground. The switch from global disturbances to tennis must have been confusing. We were afraid he might award the tennis cups to Chou En-lai and demand that tennis contestants agree to a conference in Warsaw. It was comforting, however, to have him permit the tennis matches to go on without any involvement by U.S. fleets.

The Warren Pension Situation

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The true purpose of old-age pensions for public officials is to protect faithful, worn-out servants when they have lost their public employment by reason of age or illness but not by political repudiation at the polls.

This purpose always has been professed by the politicians who have now built up an arrogant, devouring racket for their own benefit.

Such a racket at present gives Chief Justice Earl Warren more than $1,000 a month on top of his judicial salary of $35,500 a year. As though the sneering impudence of this imposition were not sufficiently offensive, Warren will make matters worse next Jan. 1 by receiving an additional $4,000 a year.

This raise will bring to more than $300 a week, a pension on top of the biggest salary he ever drew.

IF WARREN HAD had the grace to decline the pension when he went on the federal payroll, that would have been an example to shame the whole selfish gang of parasites. It would have heartened millions of almost inconsolable pessimists whose old faith in the moral character of public service is now destroyed.

It is fair to assume that Warren has accepted the pension to date, although his own political machine in California set up secrecy so that the public cannot easily learn whether he does accept it.

If he had found such acceptance repugnant to his honor and morals he certainly should have said so. This expression would have set an example of honor and dignity by one of the highest civil dignitaries in the world. It would have implied a rebuke to thousands of others who, like Warren, have used their power as politicians in state and federal machines to help themselves, legally, of course, to old-age doles greater than the highest earnings of most of the people who produce national income and taxes.

WARREN HAS NEVER produced national income. He has paid income taxes on his state and federal salaries and on a small portion of his pension from the state of California, but all that income, both salaries and the pension, came out of taxes except a small portion of the pension which is supposed to have been "contributed" in dribs and drabs over his 39 years on the payroll.

No public official in Warren's salary bracket deserves any pension at all. A man drawing salary upwards of $7,500 or $10,000 a year, as Warren has for more than 20 years, ought to save for his own old age. In the past, letter carriers, customs inspectors and workers in a few other humdrum, low-bracket groups, were frankly deemed to be so close to payday all their working lives that they would not save.

That theory has been accepted, even ennobled, by the civil service racket and it cannot be disturbed. Actually, all workers with 20 or more years of uninterrupted employment at wages acceptable to them, should take the responsibility for their own future on their own savings.

But the real outrage in the Warren pension situation is the payment of pensions in addition to lavish current salaries. Like Truman and Roosevelt, Warren is a very thrifty fellow. So, even if $35,500 a year would be just a living wage for some fancy Dan with an expensive wife, the practical fact is that Warren now gets enough actual pay, and with a contract for life, to keep him and his wife in the style that Congress thought appropriate to the chief justice.

Except in law, he doesn't deserve a nickel from the people of California. His books probably would show that he doesn't have to touch the pension, soon to be $16,000 a year. It is not a living allowance, but undeserved gravy.

HAROLD K. LEVERING, a member of the finance committee of the California assembly, recently condemned public pensions paid to anyone who continues to draw salary from any payroll, public or private. That, by the way, is the spirit of the old age pensions provided by social security. Warren and the rest of them thumb their snouts at the common man, whose pittance, set by law, is stopped if he earns more than $100 a month after retirement.

"We have situations," Mr. Levering said, "where a chief of police retires on pension, but then takes another job as chief at full pay in another city, with the pension on top of pay. Next he retires from that job and takes an appointment in a state administrative job, now drawing two pensions and salary."

"We need a constitutional law to suspend all pensions while the pensioners are drawing salary from any source. Anybody able to earn a living deserves no pension."

Court Equivocation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

'Separate But Equal' Refers to Transportation

One of the reasons why there is widespread resentment nowadays over several decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States is that there are so many instances in them of plain equivocation. This was underlined when Justice Frankfurter, in the hearing last week, had a colloquy with

R. C. Butler, David Lawrence the attorney for the Little Rock School Board, on what the court really meant four years ago in brushing aside the famous 1896 case on "separate but equal" facilities as being concerned not with education but with transportation. Here are the exact words of the Supreme Court's 1954 decision on this point:

"The doctrine of 'separate but equal' did not make its appearance in this court until 1896 in the case of Plessy vs. Ferguson, involving not education but transportation. The average person would assume from this wording that nothing important had been said in the 1896 decision about education. Yet a reading of the opinion in that case — which was decided by a 7 to 1 vote, as one justice didn't participate — shows that the separate educational systems in vogue in the schools of many states at the time constituted the very basis for the ruling."

THE SUPREME COURT majority opinion in the Plessy vs. Ferguson case reads in part as follows:

"The object of the (14th) Amendment was undoubtedly to enforce the absolute equality of the two races before the law, but in the nature of things it could not have been intended to abolish distinctions based upon color, or to enforce social, as distinguished from political, equality, or a commingling of the two races upon terms unsatisfactory to either."

"Laws permitting, and even requiring their separation in places where they are liable to be brought into contact do not necessarily imply the inferiority of either race to the other, and have been generally, if not universally, recognized as within the competency of the State Legislatures in the exercise of their police power."

The Tenth We Owe

By BERT WELLS

Editor's Note: Some of T. T.'s readers have written vacation columns for him again this year. Today's essay is an orchardist and the founder and honorary chairman of the board of an international organization specializing in church-fund promotions.

Self-preservation is the strongest instinct in animal life, but man, the animal created with a soul in the likeness of his Maker, is possessed of another uncontrollable urge not evidenced in any lower organism.

He craves possession. He wants things. His wants are never satisfied. All his life man wants more and more.

Since so many human beings demand the same things, barter and trade have developed. Our material possessions have taken on value, and money usually is the accepted medium of exchange.

We must have money with which to buy the things we want. The quest and contest for money is related in some form to almost every activity in life.

We have homes, or are planning to have them. Few families are without an automobile; many have two or more. Hardly a home is without television. We buy everything — billions of dollars for cosmetics, drinks, tobacco — anything we want, we buy.

Our Uncle Sam is a fabulous, wasteful spender. Stores and cities join in the limitless outlay, and industry, keeping pace with individual and governmental wants, is expanding and spending. We have money for every want—and more.

But how about our churches? In comparison to spending for individual, governmental and industrial wants, there is a negligible interest in spending for church expansion and maintenance. In the light of other financial indulgences, church support is a travesty.

We come back to the fact that man, who is the animal invested with a soul, the only creature as-

"The most common instance of this is connected with the establishment of separate schools for white and colored children, which have been held to be a valid exercise of the legislative power even by courts of states where the political rights of the colored race have been longest and most earnestly enforced."

The foregoing opinion was written about 30 years after the proclamation of the 14th Amendment.

The Supreme Court plainly recognized the validity of state court decisions on education and gave several citations in support of its legal position. Yet the 1954 decision of the Supreme Court and the remarks last week by Justice Frankfurter give the impression to the American people that education was not related vitally to the 1896 opinion.

Indeed, the Supreme Court in that case did not rely altogether on its own judgment.

IT QUOTED with approval from a decision of the highest court not of a Southern state but of New York State which, in upholding separate schools of equal quality of education, said with respect to social equality of the races:

"This end can neither be accomplished nor promoted by laws which conflict with the general sentiment of the community upon whom they are designed to operate. When the government, therefore, has secured to each of its citizens equal rights before the law and equal opportunities for improvement and progress, it has accomplished the end for which it is organized and performed all of the functions respecting social advantages with which it is endowed."

The present Supreme Court nevertheless in 1954 declared, in effect, that the Supreme Court in 1896 didn't understand human nature, and ruled that "whatever may have been the extent of psychological knowledge at the time of Plessy vs. Ferguson," it now must be rejected as not supported by "modern authority."

Was the Supreme Court in 1954 lacking in candor when it said that the 1896 case did not involve education but transportation, and when it made no comment on the part education really played in the reasoning on which the Plessy vs. Ferguson decision was based?

sured of eternal life, is guilty of satisfying every want, yet neglects his church. He is smilingly indifferent as a whole to the use of his money as it relates to his spiritual life.

Most normal-minded humans are believers and, as such, most of them are members of some church. They accept the Bible as the Word of God. His guiding manual.

The First Commandment says, "Thou shalt have no other god before me."

We are taught that God must have love, obedience and humble, loyal followers. We also are taught that one-tenth of everyone's income shall be returned to the support and advancement of His kingdom on earth.

The Biblical term for our dues as believers is "tithe." It is made plain that this is what we owe God. Since there are other activities outside the church which also require support, some church groups are satisfied to have half the tithe go to the support of other than church benevolences. But a minimum half belongs to God, ungenially and emphatically.

Some devout followers pay more than the tithe. Some double it. Many are not satisfied to give less than the full tenth, but a half-tithe is becoming the most generally accepted portion of individual income.

One method is one dollar a week for every thousand dollars of income. Thus, a family with $50 a month, $6,000 a year, will put $6 in cash in each week's collection. Despite this easy way of giving back a small portion of His immeasurable bounty, we find many churches shamefully neglected. Is it possible that some of us are breaking the First Commandment? Are we worshipping our dollars more than our God?

Your church — every church — needs money. But your church's need is not as tragic as the need of the giver to give. In three Gospels, Christ is quoted as in Mark, Chapter 8, 36th verse: "For what shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his soul?"

School for Democracy

By RELMAN MORIN

By The Associated Press
Can you imagine trying to reform a Communist with kindness and love?

"We think it works," said the young professor. "Come and see."

So this correspondent, on a recent trip to Formosa and Quemoy, spent the night in one of the most unusual "schools" in the world. It is near Taipei, capital of the exiled Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa.

Surrounded by walls, and with armed guards in watchtowers, it looks more like a penal institution. But they call it a school. The grounds are "the campus." When a man or woman is allowed to leave, they say he has "graduated."

It is a reformatory for Chinese Communists.

Formosa is only 120 miles from the coast of Red China. In their unending war, the two regimes continually slip agents into each other's territory.

When the Nationalists catch a Communist, or even a fellow-traveler, they put him in this school. He stays at least three years.

Then if the instructors are convinced he has changed, they release him.

"But isn't this plain brain washing?" I asked. "It sounds like the same thing the Communists do."

"Just the reverse," said the Chinese professor.

"They use force. We never touch a man. They preach hate. We teach love. We try to make a man feel that he belongs to a family, and is loved, as in any family."

More than half the day is devoted to political instruction.

"But we encourage them to argue freely about Communist doctrine. We counter every point with the teachings of Dr. Sun." Sun Yat-sen, the revolutionist, wrote the "Three principles of the People," advocating democracy.

"We sometimes answer their arguments with the sayings of Washington and Lincoln."

Each man gets vocational training—carpentry, mechanics, rice milling, weaving, shirt-making, printing and newspaper composition, and agriculture.

"Here, again, there is no coercion," said the professor. "Each person freely chooses the trade he wants to learn."

They reason that a man who has a special trade, and can earn a better living, is less likely to fall for the Communist line. Statistics showed that the great majority of those who had come to the school as Reds were farmers or soldiers, many of them illiterate.

Each man also has a bit of ground for gardening. Some raise flowers, the majority vegetables—and they are encouraged to sell the produce, thus indulging in that Communist anathema, private enterprise.

The sound of children singing floated across the yard.

"That's our kindergarten," said the professor. "There are always a few women here. Those who have children can keep them here. They play games and get a little schooling while their mothers are at work."

He said one of the women had been planted by the Reds as a housemaid in the home of an American officer to spy on him.

Finally, I asked the pay-off question: "When you release a man, how can you be sure he isn't merely pretending to have given up his Communist ideas? How can anyone tell?"

"They are watched, of course," he said. "They know that."

"But this is much more significant: Many come back over the fence. Many come back to visit us and they frequently say 'I feel that this is my home and my family.'"

Can you cure communism with love and reason? In this unique "school," they firmly believe so.

It has been estimated that about 11 per cent of the school children in the United States are left-handed.

Couple Married Fifty Years

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnston

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnston of New Garden Road will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with their immediate family.

They were married Sept. 22, 1908 by the Rev. J. Albert Law of the Lutheran Church in New Buffalo.

Mrs. Johnston is the former Pearl Cook. They have one daughter, Mrs. Homer L. Bryan of New Garden Road, and four grandchildren.

They are members of the Locust Grove Baptist Church.

Program on Constitution Held By Phoebe Fraunces Chapter

In observance of Constitution Week Sept. 17-23, Phoebe Fraunces Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held a special program on the Constitution at Monday night's meeting in Firestone Park at Columbiana.

"Because of the great power given to the people under our form of government, the duties and responsibilities of each citizen in maintaining democracy are greater today in our country than in any other nation," Miss Joan Schuller of Salem, guest speaker, told the members.

"Each individual's rights are guaranteed by our Constitution. This means that we must learn to understand our Constitution and to use it to sustain and to strengthen our democracy," Miss Schuller said.

She spoke on the subject, "The Real Purpose of the Constitution." Mrs. Charles Oertel, vice-regent and program chairman, introduced the speaker. She also outlined eight other program topics on the theme, "Fruits of Freedom," which have been planned for the current year.

The state and national honor roll requirements were reviewed by Mrs. Joseph Boone, chapter secretary and honor roll chairman. Mrs. Boone announced that Phoebe Fraunces Chapter placed on both state and national honorable mention honor rolls for achievements accomplished during the 1957 program year.

Mrs. Warren W. Brown gave a talk on conservation, and the chapter voted a donation to Memorial Acres, a State DAR project.

The national defense topic was discussed by the chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Gormley of Columbiana. Mrs. Clyde Harrold of Columbiana read the President General's Message from the National DAR Magazine.

Members were reminded to bring contributions of good clean used or new clothing to be sent to the American Indian Schools or the DAR Approved Schools. Local chairman of the Indian project is Mrs. Mary Duffy of Columbiana.

Mrs. William Corso of Salem is local chairman of DAR Approved Schools. Chapter historian, Mrs. E. E. Logue, reported that one silver medal, two bronze medals and two certificates of recognition had been presented to winners of a contest sponsored by the chapter for Junior High School students of American History. Mrs. Oertel made the presentations at the Junior High School Recognition Day Assembly before the close of school last spring.

Mrs. Michael Schuller, regent, presided at the meeting and announced that reservations for the northeast district meeting to be held in Cleveland Sept. 30, may be made with her by Sept. 24. Mrs. Schuller also appointed Mrs. Jack Hernstrom to serve as Flag of the USA chairman.

Preceding the meeting, the 17 members and their guest enjoyed a covered dinner. Hostesses were Mrs. Willard Hetrick, Mrs. Gormley, Mrs. Duffy and Mrs. Charles Smith, all of Columbiana.

Guest night will be observed at the Oct. 20 meeting at the Schuller home on Fair Ave. Mrs. Oertel and Mrs. Vanskiver, both of Salem; Mrs. Guy Hurd of Salineville and Mrs. Bryan Cox of Kensington will be hostesses. Mrs. Donald Reichert of Salem will present the program on "Adult Education."

Miss Shirley Werner To Be Wed Saturday

Custom of open church will be held Saturday at 4:30 p.m. in Emmanuel Lutheran Church for the wedding of Miss Shirley Werner and Anthony Kataro Jr. A half hour of nuptial music will precede the ceremony.

Invitations have been issued to the reception which will be held at the Saxon Club.

Miss Werner is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Werner of Newgarden Road. Mr. Kataro is a son of Mrs. Frances Kataro of E. State St. and Anthony Kataro Sr. of Pidgeon Road.

Miss Werner was entertained recently at a bridal shower at the home of her great-aunt, Mrs. Joseph Liebhart of S. Union Ave. The table was decorated with mixed garden flowers, and gifts were arranged in a pink and white decorated basket, which also was presented to the bride-to-be.

Prizes were awarded to winners of games played. A special guest at the party was Theresa Stix of Detroit, Mich.

Medical Society Auxiliary Hears Talk

Six members from Salem were among the 32 present at the opening luncheon meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Columbiana County Medical Society Tuesday at the home of Mrs. C. A. Gerace of East Liverpool.

Mrs. W. S. Banfield of Irondale presided and welcomed guests from the State Medical Auxiliary, Mrs. Edward Bauman of Warren, sixth district director; and Mrs. Myron W. Thomas of Garrettsville, second state vice president.

Mrs. Thomas lauded the county auxiliary for its past achievements and outlined the proposed state program for the coming year.

An interesting talk was given by James A. Locke Jr. of East Liverpool, a certified gemologist, on exploring the world of gems. He showed precious stones before and after cutting.

Those attending from Salem were Mrs. A. P. Falkenstein, president-elect; Mrs. V. C. Hart, Mrs. W. A. Koloszi, Mrs. C. J. Lehwald, Mrs. R. J. McConnor and Mrs. E. L. Schaefer.

The next meeting of the auxiliary will be held Oct. 1 at the Masonic Temple in Lisbon.

Lions Auxiliary Makes Plans For Benefit

The Lions Auxiliary held its first meeting of the season Monday evening at the home of Mrs. R. L. Peters of N. Ellsworth Ave.

A buffet supper was enjoyed by the 19 members and a guest, Mrs. Edward Bennett. The buffet table was centered with a miniature "Little Red Schoolhouse" and the tables featured ivy entwined yellow tapers in crystal holders. Miniature "slates" marked the places.

Mrs. Arnold Kovach, president, presided at the business meeting and welcomed two new members, Mrs. Hayes Stewart and Mrs. Maurice Walker. Committees were named for the coming year.

A donation was made to the Salem Community Fund. Preliminary plans were made to hold a benefit the first part of October.

Mrs. Charles Billman and Mrs. Harold Shears were named co-chairman of this event.

A social hour was enjoyed, with game prizes going to Mrs. Emery DeMers, Mrs. Harold Shears and Mrs. John Fithian. A special prize was awarded to Mrs. Kovach.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Leo Beall, Mrs. Glenn Robbins and Mrs. Peters.

The next meeting will be Oct. 20, with Mrs. DeMers, Mrs. Fred Miller and Mrs. Ralph Smith as hostesses.

DRAWN PRISON TERM

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Charles M. O'Malley, 34, of Columbus, has drawn a 25-year prison sentence, and Jimmie Burnette, 30, of St. Paul, Minn., a 15-year sentence, for robbing the Scioto Bank at Commercial Point of $3,892 last May 6. Sentences were imposed Thursday by Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood. Burnette pleaded guilty and testified against O'Malley.

Golf Club Women Schedule Activities

Two coming events were discussed at Tuesday's meeting of the Women's Association of the Salem Golf Club - the round-up team play scheduled for the afternoon of Sept. 23, and a dinner party for all women members of the club to be held Sept. 30 at 6 p.m.

Those who wish to participate in the golf event, with two men and one woman making up each team, are asked to register at the club. At a dinner to follow, trophies will be presented to winners of the past season's events.

Reservations for the dinner party for women members of the club may be made by calling the club. Crest Johnston of Youngstown, an interior decorator, will speak and answer questions on decorating.

New officers of the association will be elected at this time.

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Diabetes Can Be 'Hidden' Disease

Diabetes mellitus, or sugar diabetes, is one of the most important diseases in the world. It frequently comes on unnoticed. Consequently there may be a large number of people who have it without knowing so.

Perhaps three million persons in the United States alone have diabetes, but only half of them have been so diagnosed. This is a great shame because diabetes can lead to a number of complications such as blindness, loss of a foot or limb and carries with it special hazards to the heart and blood vessels.

Only a few problems connected with diabetes can be discussed in a single column. However, one question which is raised fairly frequently is whether women who have diabetes can have children.

UNTIL RECENTLY, pregnancy for women with diabetes carried much more risk than for those free of the disease. Furthermore the death rate in children of diabetic mothers ranged as high as six out of ten.

Now, however, with rigid diet, restriction of salt, and other medical out-look for the mother has been much improved, and for the child as well.

In one series of patients who were given expert care during pregnancy, the mortality of the mothers was only one in 20. Eighty-four of 100 children survived.

In giving these figures, however, it must be remembered that the comparatively favorable results applied only to those mothers who cooperated well with treatment in addition to receiving skilled medical attention.

Expert medical care is important also for victims of diabetes who are not pregnant. Until the discovery of insulin about 30 ago, people with diabetes almost always died of the disease eventually. Even today people die of diabetes, but often this is their own fault because they have been careless about their diet or their insulin.

SOMETIMES the condition can be controlled merely by adjusting the diet so that the body does not have too much sugar to handle. In other cases if the diabetes is bad, dieting may not be enough and it is necessary to inject some of the secretion which we call insulin (obtained from animal pancreas) to help use up the excess sugar.

In the early days, insulin injections had to be given before each meal in order to keep sugar from passing into the urine. Now, preparations of insulin have been developed which are slow acting and produce effects which last for a long time.

In many cases of diabetes, therefore, it is possible to give only one or two injections a day. Thus it is often somewhat easier on the patient.

Today some interesting studies are going on with preparations to control diabetes which can be given by mouth. These are in what we doctors call the "experimental stage" and are not yet recommended for general use.

safely to base, presumably the Pescadore Islands.

Augmented Army

Smoot's command announced that the United States has augmented its Army, Navy and Air Force in the Formosa area. It said this augmentation has established a requirement for centralizing operational control of all forces assigned to the Formosa area.

The announcement said the Joint Chiefs of Staff established the U.S. Formosa Defense Command as a subordinate unified command under the commander in chief, Pacific. Over-all direction remains under Smoot.

Maj. Gen. Leander Doan, chief of the Military Assistance Advisory Group, is designated commanding general of the U.S. Army forces assigned to Formosa; Brig. Gen. Fred Den, commander of the U.S. Air Task Force, is designated commander of all Air Force units; and Rear Adm. Paul Blackburn, commander of the Formosa Strait Patrol, is designated commander of U.S. Navy units.

Direct Control

Smoot, the announcement said, will have under his direct operational control those forces necessary to discharge his mission of on-the-spot coordination of all U. S. operations in the Formosa area.

Reorganization of the U.S. Formosa command was announced as the Army assigned a Nike-Hercules missile battalion to the defense of the Nationalist stronghold.

The U.S. Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Command announced today an advance party of the 71st Artillery Regiment's 2nd Missile Battalion had arrived from Ft. Bliss, Tex., and missile launching sites are being built.

The Nike-Hercules can knock down enemy aircraft more than 75 miles away. It can carry either a conventional or an atomic warhead.

The Defense Department in Washington said Monday the battalion was going to the Pacific but refused to confirm reports that it would come to Formosa.

700 or 800 Men

A Nike-Hercules battalion consists of 700 to 800 men manning 48 missile launchers. This type of supersonic missile is in defense around New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and the Washington-Baltimore area.

Matador guided missiles have been in operation on Formosa since late last year. U.S. jet fighters also are on Formosa, and the 7th Fleet carries its own anti-aircraft missiles and fighters.

The Nationalists got three more LSTs through Communist shellfire to Quemoy, the Defense Ministry said. The ships unloaded supplies and withdrew without damage.

This brought to nine the number of LSTs reported to have delivered cargoes to Quemoy since U.S. advisers showed the Nationalists new techniques.

Nationalist China gave credit to better U.S.-trained pilots and superior American planes for the victories it claimed in dogfights with the Communists Thursday.

Tangled with MIGs

The Defense Ministry said eight of its planes tangled with 0 Communist MIGs near the offshore Quemoy islands and downed five of them without a Nationalist loss.

Nationalist planes also sank three Communist torpedo boats and damaged another, the ministry claimed.

The ministry spokesman, Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-tu, was asked at a news conference how outnumbered Nationalist jet pilots could score such one-sided victories.

"It must be because of much better morale, experience and training of our pilots," Liu replied. "I think also that American equipment inside the plane is superior, as you all know from the Korean War."

Liu apparently referred to radar and electronic gunnery equipment in F86 Sabre Jets and F84 Thunderjets supplied to the Nationalists by the United States.

The basic planes themselves are older models than the Communist MIG17s. Nationalist pilots are now training in newer supersonic F100 Super Sabres.

Liu said U.S. jets flew protective air cover with the Nationalist planes protecting a supply convoy to Quemoy but were not engaged in the dogfights.

Salineville Ruritans Hear Judge Sharp

SALINEVILLE — Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp was guest speaker at a meeting of the Salineville Ruritan Club at the Methodist Church Thursday evening.

Judge Sharp spoke on the "Crises in the Near East" tracing it back to Biblical times.

Asst. Prosecutor J. Warren Betts introduced the Judge. Forty members and guests attended.

Chives, grown in a pot on a window sill, are good used a number of ways. Add them to scrambled eggs, garnish marinated tomatoes and cucumbers with them, sprinkle them over tomato soup (hot or cold).

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Joseph Vild

Mrs. Anna Vild, 63, of 999 Prospect St. died of complications at 11:15 p.m. Thursday at the Central Clinic.

She was born in Czechoslovakia Aug. 22, 1895.

Survivors include her husband, Joseph Vild, whom she married Nov. 25, 1950; a stepson, Joseph Vild of Salem; two stepdaughters, Mrs. George Mlinarcik and Mrs. A. C. Sklenicka of Salem; a grandchild; and two sisters and a brother in Czechoslovakia.

Services will be Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the Stark Memorial, with the Rev. George D. Keister of Holy Trinity English Lutheran Church officiating. Interment will be in Hope Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Memorial anytime this evening.

Democrats to Make Plans for Campaign

The Columbiana County Democratic Central and Executive Committee will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Lisbon Village Hall to plan for the final month of campaigning. Don R. Gosney, county Democratic chairman, reports.

Gosney also stated that plans will be made for a county-wide Democratic dinner, sponsored by the county Democratic Women's clubs. Kay Blackburn, county chairwoman, will announce the speaker and place of the dinner. Mrs. Blackburn said a nationally-known speaker will appear.

Also on the program Wednesday evening will be the Democratic county candidates: John F. Kelly Democratic nominee for state representative; Frank Wilson an R.R. Max Gard, nominees for county commissioner; Kenneth Bell, candidate for county auditor; Carl L. Stacey, nominee for clerk of courts; Robert S. Hartford, candidate for judge of the Court of Common Pleas; and Harold McCall and Judge Luther Donbar, candidates for two of the three county judge posts.

Gosney said the County Democratic Committee will adopt a platform which is expected to include a plank on obtaining surplus food for the county's needy.

Deerfield

Plans About Half-Dozen Speeches

Ike to Limit Participation In Congressional Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower apparently intends to limit his participation in the congressional campaign to fewer than half a dozen speeches in the final three weeks before the November election.

Republican campaigners, notified Eisenhower won't be available until after Oct. 15, are hoping Vice President Nixon will expand greatly a schedule that now calls for eight speeches in four states. Although there has been no final decision, Eisenhower is expected to make personal appearances in the East, the Midwest and on the Pacific Coast.

About the only certainty thus far is that Eisenhower will visit California. There Sen. William F. Knowland, retiring as the Senate's minority leader, is facing an uphill battle in his fight for the governorship. GOP Gov. Goodwin J. Knight also apparently has the odds against him in seeking the Senate seat Knowland is vacating.

No Suggestion

While there is no suggestion that Eisenhower's help would be welcome to any GOP Senate or House candidate, one Republican strategist said the demand for presidential appearances isn't as great as it was in 1956 or 1954.

On the other hand, Nixon was said to be receiving requests for campaign help that might cause him to reconsider his previous decision against the type of barnstorming he undertook four years ago.

Nixon has agreed thus far to make four speeches in California, where the outcome of the Knowland and Knight races may have a direct bearing on the vice president's expected bid for the 1960 GOP presidential nomination.

Thus Far Ruled Out

Even in California, however, Nixon thus far has ruled out whistle stopping. Instead he will speak at party fund-raising dinners in San Diego Oct. 1, in Oakland the following day, in San Francisco Oct. 14 and in Los Angeles the next day.

Nixon will start his campaigning with an appearance in Indianapolis Sept. 29. He is billed to appear at fund-raising dinners in Philadelphia Oct. 8 and Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 28. He also will be principal speaker at the Republican State Convention in Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 9.

Urgent requests for Nixon's help are said to have come from GOP senatorial candidates in Arizona, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Wisconsin and West Virginia.

adopted by most other communities in the county.

However, in the past several days there has been an extensive effort, especially in the southern part of the county, to return to Eastern Standard Time at the end of this month.

A clamor for return to slow time began following a crash between an East Palestine school bus and a truck-trailer near East Palestine.

Discussions will be held on problems encountered during the first weeks of school, on achievement tests, the national standardization program and curriculum charts for high school and elementary grades.

Choir Parents Club Will Meet Tuesday

The Choir Parents Club will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the choir room at the Junior High School. Projects for the coming year will be outlined by F. Edwin Miller, choir director. Mrs. Kenneth Lodge will preside.

Starting in October, the regular monthly meeting will be held the fourth Tuesday of each month in the new Senior High School.

special election which some lawyers say has no legal significance because of the Supreme Court order to integrate immediately.

The Little Rock School Board, meanwhile, arranged for informal televised classes to begin Monday. School officials have not decided what credit may be given for such work.

Almond closed two schools at Charlottesville, Va., under a state law which automatically halts classes wherever integration is Front Royal was closed last week.

The Warren County (Front Royal) Parent-Teachers Assn. vetoed a move to reopen the school without state funds. The PTA named a committee to make plans for interim pupil instruction.

Decides Today
The School Board at Norfolk decides today whether to keep six schools closed temporarily while seeking a plan to bar their indefinite closure under Virginia's anti-integration laws. A federal judge overruled a state court injunction.

G. E. Graves, an NAACP attorney at Miami, said he will appeal to the County School Board and the Florida State School Board if necessary to win admittance of some Negroes to a white school at Miami. Failing there, he said he will take the case to the Circuit Court at Tallahassee. The county board has rejected applications from 14 Negro children to attend the school.

The Democratic National Committee blamed President Eisenhower for the crisis in school integration. In a Democratic Fact Book the party said if the President had used the moral authority of his office to promote orderly integration the "school-opening crises of these last years could have been avoided."

Job Outlook Brightens In Spots

It's Your Pocketbook

BY FAYE HENLE

Seeking employment? Thinking of changing jobs? Considering going into business for yourself? In many areas of the country a fall pickup is at hand. There are definite indications of optimism.

U.S. Labor Department officials cite the following areas and industries as those offering the best job opportunities now:

In Metropolitan New York a pickup is noted among apparel makers. This holds true also for clothing manufacturers in Los Angeles, Paterson, N. J., Boston, Chicago and Fall River, Mass. More hiring is promised in textile centers in Massachusetts and New Jersey.

THE CHEMICAL INDUSTRY has shown strength throughout the recession and chemical plants in Philadelphia, St. Louis, Charleston, Memphis and Nashville are expected to expand their working forces.

If you are a fabricated metals worker, don't seek a job making tin cans. Your chances for finding employment will be better in plants making building hardware and auto stampings.

Food processors, especially those in the west coast canning centers, are expanding.

There is expected to be a modest amount of hiring in electrical machinery, instrument and furniture plants. A very slight increase is forecast in the hiring of automobile and steelworkers.

More work is promised in missile production.

In today's economy, your best chances for employment or for starting a business are in the construction, trade and service industries.

If you can afford to be choosy about your employer, don't base your choice upon personality alone, although this can be an important factor. Instead, give some thought to why some companies fail while others grow.

AN ANALYSIS OF Dun & Bradstreet's "The Failure Record Through 1957" shows that close to 59 per cent of failures occur in companies less than five years old, only 19.3 per cent among those who have survived a decade.

This study shows that failures are more frequent among small companies than large.

What is the key to whether a company may survive or go under? This study offers the answer:

Success lies with a good sales force and a healthy position in the industry. Just under 50 per cent of failures have occurred because of inadequate sales. Trouble comes when management lacks experience—this is true 92.2 per cent of the time.

If you are thinking of going into a manufacturing business of your own, the lines to avoid are furniture, transportation equipment, leather and shoes. Here the number of failures over the past years has been the highest.

On this basis, the retail lines to shun, surprisingly enough, are infants and children's wear, men's wear, women's apparel and sporting goods. In these lines the competition is really rough.

Milwaukee Drubs St. Louis to Reduce Magic Number to 2

Bob Rush Hurls 9-3 Victory

Schoendienst Leads Defending Champs

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
After 11 years in the majors, Bob Rush finally is going to get a chance to pitch in a World Series. And it looks like the big right-hander has ideas of being the Milwaukee Braves' No. 3 starter against the New York Yankees.

Rush, 32, who spent his first 10 seasons with the Chicago Cubs did the pitching Thursday night as the Braves whipped St. Louis 9-3 and reduce their magic number to two in the only National League game scheduled.

He wasn't particularly neat about it, giving up 11 hits, but he didn't walk a man while winning his third in a row. It was only his fifth complete game of the season, but his record in his last three starts. His record is 10-6.

With young Joey Jay unable to do more than sideline work because of a finger injury, Rush is grouped with Bob Buhl, Juan Pizarro and rookie Carl Willey in the competition for manager Fred Haney's favor as a third series starter behind Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette.

Buhl, out most of the season with injury, has worked only once since returning to action Labor Day. Pizarro, a lefty, Willey and Jay took up the slack when Buhl was out. Willey puts in his bid for a series start when he goes against Cincinnati tonight.

The Braves, who could clinch tonight with a victory should second place Pittsburgh lose to Philadelphia, beat the Cards with four runs in the fourth against Sam Jones (13-12). Red Schoendienst, who was 4-for-5, started it with one of his three doubles. Hank Aaron brought him home with a single. Wes Covington singled and Frank Torre then brought the Braves from behind with a two-run, two-out triple. Johnny Logan singled home the clincher.

Fight Results

Wichita, Kan. — Dan Hodge, 138, Wichita, outpointed Art Norris, 187, Chicago, 10.

Las Vegas, Nev. — Jim Norris, 152, Las Vegas, outpointed Eddie Gilbert, 148, Los Angeles.

OFFERS SHIPS

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The United States has offered the Argentine navy two submarines and a destroyer on a lend or lease basis. The Argentine government was reported ready to accept the offer.

EMERGENCY LANDING

GANDER, Nfld. (AP) — A Pan American transatlantic plane made an emergency landing here early today with 72 passengers after one engine failed three hours from New York. The plane was en route to Duesseldorf, Germany.

MICKEY MANTLE—American League home run leader will lead the Yankees into the World Series. Mantle has hit 41 4-baggers so far this season and is three homers ahead of Rocky Colavito of Cleveland and Roy Seivers of Washington.

Sports Sketches

By GORDON ARNDT

For the fourth time since Monday, the second annual Salem Invitational Softball Tournament will attempt to enter final round play at Kelly field tomorrow night.

Only five clubs remain in the double-elimination meet including unbeaten Canton Freedom for Congress.

Salem's Scotts Candy is one of the entireties along with Hubbard Ressler's Plasterer, Akron Red's Bar and Butler, Pa. Serventis.

Thirty-two clubs were entered when play began Aug. 28. Tomorrow at 7:30 p.m., Hubbard will play Akron with the winner meeting Salem at 9 p.m.

On Sunday afternoon at 2:30, Butler will meet the survivor from Saturday's games. The winner of the 2:30 tilt will play Canton at 3:30. Should Canton lose, another game would be played at 4:30. If any of the teams playing Sunday are to win the tourney, they must play three times Sunday.

Good pitching feasts have highlighted the meet. Canton features Chuck Hatfield and Steve Baughman. Last month these two hurlers competed against each other in a 32-inning affair.

BUTLER, PA. features Joe Embroski, the fast-balling southpaw. He owns a no-hitter in the tourney and a win over Midland, Pa. 1212, last year's champs.

Akron's best pitcher is Rip Fugate while Hubbard's lineup has Bob Atterholt of Youngstown U. court fame.

Scotts Candy's pitching staff is made up of Satch Altomare, Dave Ehrhart and Muscles Russell. The tourney director is Dave Brisker who has been responsible for the scheduling of games, the assigning of umpire sand keeping the field in playing condition.

It costs money to run a tourney and a two-league association. Mr. Brisker deserves a pat on the back even if it's only with your attendance at either Saturday's or Sunday's games or both.

DURING the intermission of each game this season, the Salem High School marching band under the direction of Richard Howenstine will perform for seven minutes.

For this 63 minutes of playing and strutting the band will have rehearsed over 63 hours.

The 53-member organization began their practice sessions two weeks before school started averaging two hours a day each time.

Now that school has begun, they rehearse 60 minutes a day dividing their time between the music room and Reilly Stadium.

The band is small this year compared to 1957 because it is comprised of students from just three grades and not four.

THANKS to the band mothers club the group is wearing new gray and red uniforms for the first time since the early 1940s.

Howenstine, now in his fifth year, devises all marching formations and selects each band number.

He said that this year's band is the finest he has ever had and that they have more spirit than have previous musical groups.

The band's drum major is Tom Lease. The majorettes are Linda Heston, Karen Klein, Ronnie Minth, Lorraine Pardee and Carol Ward.

For the Brookfield game here Oct. 3, the musicians hope to have on display an American flag and a school flag donated by the class of 1956.

FOR THOSE of you who want to know where the 1957 football and basketball graduates are going to college this fall, here is a partial list.

Henry Maxim and Larry Phillips, Santa Monica Junior College in Santa Monica, Cal.; Lani Walwale, Heidelberg; Moe Meissner, Wooster; Jim Horn, Westminster; Bill Holzwarth, Santa Anna Junior College in Santa Anna, Cal.; Jerry Stumpo, Youngstown; Paul Welsh, Mt. Union; Bill Pauline, Michigan State; Butch Platt, Youngstown and Darryl Adams, the Merchant Marine Academy in Kingspoint, Conn.

Maxim and Phillips plan to transfer in February to the University of Southern California.

Ex-SHS Gridder Seeking Spot At Tackle With Mount Union

Among the Mount Union College grid performers getting the "once-over" Saturday when Mount opens at Akron will be Paul Welsh, ex-Salem standout.

Welch, a three-year letterman for the Quakers and captain of last year's team, is a tackle candidate for Mount Union.

The tackles have been coach Duke Barret's weakest spot for the past several seasons.

After lettermen Willie Huff and Bob Tunelius, there is not another experienced tackle on the roster.

That means Barret will be eager to see what the various freshmen hopefuls have to offer. The 6-foot, 200-pound Welch is big enough to merit a long second look.

Approximately 30,000 spectators are expected to watch the Mount-Akron contest in the Rubber Bowl. It is the fifth annual Acme-Zip promotional affair.

The following week, Mount returns home to meet Capital University in a similar contest. All

Johnny Busso Meets Ortiz In TV Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—The "champion" of New York's East Side will be at stake again tonight when "defending champion" John Busso meets Carlos Ortiz in a return television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden. Ortiz is an 8-5 favorite.

To an outsider the neighborhood crown might not mean a thing, but to lightweights Busso, 25, and Ortiz, 22, it's the next best prize to a world title. Busso's record is 34-6-1 including 15 knockouts. Ortiz's record is 34-6-1 including 15 knockouts.

He has won three straight.

Oddly enough neither lives in the old neighborhood in the East 20's any more.

"But I go back there all the time," explained Busso. "If I lost that first fight I gotta walk with my head down. I'm gonna keep walking through the old block with my head up."

"I'm gonna knock his block off," was Ortiz' retort. "I beat him the first time no matter what two of those officials had it. This time I'm gonna make it so big there won't be any question."

Busso closed strong in the final four rounds to gain a split verdict over the 9-5 favored Ortiz in the first scrap at the Garden June 27.

The loss was Ortiz' first in 28 pro fights. His record is 62-1 with one no-decision affair. He has scored nine kayos. Busso's record is 34-6-1 including 15 knockouts.

Hardtops, Bombs To Headline Canfield Race Card Saturday

One of the most outstanding stock car pilots in the Midwest, Jim McCune of Toledo, will invade Canfield Speedway Saturday night. McCune has won eight feature races in the Toledo circuit this season and is also track champion in Fremont.

This will be the second appearance of the season at Canfield for McCune and he again will have his high-powered fuel-injection Buick on hand.

Driving his flashy-looking No. 88 here previously, McCune threatened to cop all honors as he won his first two events—the helmet dash and first heat. However in the feature while gunning for first place, he hit a tire and broke an oil line and had to drop out.

McCune promises to give race fans plenty of action but he will find plenty of competition.

Bill Forney of Youngstown, Nook Walters of Mines and Jim Bickerstaff of Mineral Ridge will provide him with the most trouble.

There will be plenty of other pilots in the doubleheader hardtop and modified "bomb" eight-race program but all eyes will be on these four red-hot drivers.

Walters will be piloting his 1955 Mercury, Bickerstaff a 1955 Ford convertible and Forney a 1955 Chevrolet in the hardtop events.

Walters won last week beating out Forney by two-car lengths as Bickerstaff had car trouble. The previous week Bickerstaff grabbed the checkered flag.

Forney has been setting a terrific pace throughout Ohio this season.

ALONG with these outstanding drivers, Dave McMurray will be on hand as will Bill Buehler of Boardman, Don Sawyer of Girard, Lee Schreckengost of Alliance, Russ Allen of Canfield, Gary Walters of Niles, "Rabbi" Hipley of Salem and many others.

There will be four events each for the hardtops and the modified "bombs".

Norm Calhoun of Akron will be seeking his third local win in the modified feature. He edged out Rich Bauman of Ambridge, Pa. last week in one of the most thrilling races seen this year.

Bauman waged a terrific battle to catch Calhoun. After nipping him on the final lap, he took the curve too wide and Calhoun slipped down the straight-away to win.

Al Butwell of Akron also showed plenty of speed in his "souped" up Pontiac. Butwell won the first heat vent.

Norm McCarthy, Don Eggett, Ernie Lowe, Ken Laughlin, Pete Foltz, Bob Adkins, Bob Wooster, Dave Hale and Joe Stambol will be in the lineup also.

Time trials are at 7 and the first race is at 8:30 p.m.

Polo Team In Last Home Match Sunday

The Salem Polo Club will play its last home match of the season Sunday at 3 p.m. when they entertain the Cleveland poloists on the Ellsworth field.

Salem is in a second place tie with Poland in the Penn-Ohio league, each with 15-6 records just one game behind front running Columbus.

Salem's lineup will be Phil Thompson, Jimmy Barr, Lloyd Brunner and Jimmy Watson with Jack Arnold as the alternate. Cleveland's lineup will be Bill Mann, Joe O'Neil, Herb Green and Dick Knepper with alternates Pat O'Neil and Max Nemick.

St. Paul, Minn. — Del Glanagan, 1494, St. Paul, outpointed welterweight Virgil Akins, 148, St. Louis, 10 (non-title).

1. Inspect and tighten all water hose connections.
2. Flush radiator and cooling system - and blow out bugs in radiator core.
3. Install permanent anti-freeze as required.
4. Add Radiator Sealer and Rust Inhibitor.
5. Adjust fan and generator belts for proper tension.
6. Remove, inspect and re-install thermostat.
7. Clean air and gas filters — and blow out gas line.
8. Test battery, clean and tighten terminals.
9. Check heater for proper operation.
10. Install solvent in windshield washer.

College Football Season Begins Tonight

By The Associated Press
The 1958 college football season, a topic of hot controversy, officially opens tonight with new rules, new coaches and the same old upset potential.

The big game pits Oregon State, ranked No. 12 in The Associated Press preseason poll, against Southern California in the Pacific Coast Conference. It marks the beginning of the final year for the PCC.

Other games tonight include George Washington at Detroit,

Catawba at Davidson and Jacksonville at Chattanooga.

Saturday, things begin to hop in the South and Southwest. There also will be a smattering of activity in the East, Midwest, Rockies and Far West.

This will produce the first test of new rules making an extra point worth two points by a run or pass, allowing a player to enter the game, twice within the same quarter, forcing an offensive blocker to use one arm instead of two and allowing downfield blocking before the reception of a forward pass.

Mississippi, No. 6, the highest ranked team to see action, goes out of the Southeast Conference to play Memphis State, while the Southwest Conference's eighth-ranked Texas Christian meets the Big Eight's Kansas, under new coach Jack Mitchell.

North Carolina, ranked No. 10, plays rival North Carolina State in an Atlantic Coast Conference tilt.

In the second 10, Texas (No. 11) plays Georgia at night, while 18th-ranked Clemson faces ACC foe

Virginia, where Dick Voris makes his debut for the Cavaliers.

On the Pacific Coast, Eastern independent Pitt (No. 19) faces UCLA, with George Dickerson taking over for the Uclans' late Red Sanders. Texas A&M, No. 20, under Jim Myers for the first time, plays Texas Tech, a non-football member of the Southwest Conference until 1960.

Television viewers get in on the act when Missouri hosts Vanderbilt and Oklahoma State plays Denver in the Rocky Mountain area.

Ted Williams Closing In On Runnels for AL Batting Lead

By The Associated Press
The way things are going, Ted Williams might finish with the worst batting average ever for a full season in the majors — and still win the American League batting title.

He never has batted worse than .318 for a full season with the Boston Red Sox. That was in 1951.

Now, at 40 and battling for his sixth crown, he's batting .318 and is just .001 behind teammate Pete Runnels, who leads the league.

Runnels lost three points to .319 with an 0-for-4 day as the Red Sox slipped to fifth with a 4-1 loss at Kansas City Thursday. Williams had a double in three at-bats, staying put in the averages. The A's Bob Cerv had one hit, his 37th homer, in three trips and remained at .315, tied for third with idle Vic Power of Cleveland and Harvey Kuenn of Detroit.

The Chicago White Sox defeated

Baltimore 6-2 in the only other AL game scheduled Thursday.

The pennant-bound Milwaukee Braves whittled their magic number to two by beating the St. Louis Cardinals 9-3 in the only National League game.

Williams, who has batted .345 (10-for-29) since returning from a bout with a virus, won the 1957 title with a .388 mark. His other champion averages were .406 (1941), .369 (1948), .356 (1942) and .343 (1947).

Bill Tuttle and Roger Maris also homered for the A's, in the first inning off rookie Ted Bowsfield (3-2). Pete Daley hit his second home run in the second inning and had two of Boston's six hits off left-hander Bud Daley (3-2).

Barry Latman (2-0), a young right-hander, blanked the Orioles on three singles in 7 2-3 innings of relief at Chicago. The White Sox took it with three runs in the fifth off Jack Harshman (11-14) on Al Smith's two-run double and a single by Ray Boone, who had hit his 13th homer earlier.

Paul Brown Admits Squad Is 'Well Set'

CLEVELAND (AP)—Now that the exhibition football season is about over, Paul Brown calmly assesses his Cleveland squad as "pretty well set" in all offensive and defensive assignments.

Not that the Browns don't need plenty of practice in timing and working together. But Coach Brown seems to feel his material is sorted out properly, so the real preparations for the league season can start.

"There still is a fight at several positions for the third (string) job," he said. "In almost every case we've had a pretty good look at those in the competition."

Saturday night at Municipal Stadium the Browns will play an exhibition game with the Detroit Lions. Each club a won two and lost three exhibitions this year.

The Browns will have Milt Plum as quarterback, with Jim Ninowski as relief, sophomore Jim Brown as fullback and Ray Renfro as flanker. The running half-back job will be alternated between the two rookie backbacks, Bobby Mitchell of Illinois and little Leroy Bolden of Michigan State.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

(Written for NEA Service)

People are able to see only the objects on which their eyes are able to focus. The ear can hear only the sounds which are strong enough to react upon the diaphragm of the ear. Man has learned to increase his sight and hearing with the use of magnifiers and amplifiers. Even these mechanical pieces of apparatus have their limitations.

Radar has stepped up our sensitivity for locating objects beyond the range of visual magnification because the radio waves penetrate the fog and the haze which come between the eye and the unseen object. As we learn more about God's universe we shall be able to capture even more of sight and sound than we have imagined to date.

God's contact with man is not limited to sight or sound. His message penetrates all of the barriers of sin and hatred which man creates. We must tune in to God if we are going to receive His ready signals.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

If you do not know the name of the person to whom you are writing a business letter it is correct to begin it with "Dear Sir." If you are writing a letter to a company or firm you may begin it with "Gentlemen."

But when you do know the name of the person to whom you are writing, use it.
